Congratulations on booking your movie night rental! To prepare for your movie night, you'll need a few simple things:

- A small table or cart to set the projector on
- A standard electrical connection within 50 feet of where you would like the screen to be placed
- The screen area, if outdoors, needs to be dirt or grass, and the area above the screen must be clear of branches, electrical lines, etc. If indoors, you need a space with ceilings at least 9.5 feet high
- The movie you'll be showing on DVD or Blu-ray
- A second adult to help you put up the screen

If you are trying to use your own device for video or your internet connection for content, we can't guarantee it will work. We suggest testing it yourself in advance, and having a disc as a back-up plan.

Here's some other tips on hosting a movie night:

- Let your neighbors know your plans, including when you'll be done
- Starting early outside never works, the sun is too bright for any projector
- Let everyone know you'll be settling in about 30 minutes before, and start the movie right at sunset
- Choose a place for the screen that's away from streetlights and other bright objects
- Have a few flashlights on hand
